Local authors featured at Friends Annual Event

After a brief business meeting, husband and wife duo Dane Kroll and Lara Avery, were the featured speakers at the Friends of the Library Annual Event Nov 3. Librarian Autumn Friedli moderated the conversation about their writing and what they are reading.

Kroll is the author of numerous horror, fantasy, and sci-fi novels, including the popular Realm of Goryo series. Avery has written three young adult novels and published her first adult contemporary novel The Year of Second Chances in 2023. Both authors charmed the audience with engaging stories about their lives as writers. Round Table Bookstore sold a selection of the authors' books, and Kroll and Avery signed books.

Mark your calendar for Sun, Nov 2, 2025, for the next Friends Annual Event!

Autumn, Dane & Lara talk about creating characters for their books.

Friends socialized before Scottoline event

Everyone who attended bestselling author Lisa Scottoline's event at the library Sept 30 was thoroughly entertained. She captivated the audience with amusing stories about her writing career and personal life.

Friends members were treated to a reception before the highly anticipated talk. At the public event Friends enjoyed front-row seating and received a signed copy of Scottoline's latest novel The Truth About The Devlins.

This reception is just one of the many perks of being a member of the Friends of the Library!

Explore the connection between technology and art while experiencing art in a new way in the Immersed exhibit in the Alice C. Sabatini Gallery December 13, 2024 - March 2, 2025 at the library. The gallery team animated artwork from the library's permanent collection and is projecting it at a larger-than-life size to give you a new, interactive experience of the art.

To create this exhibit the gallery used photographs of images of art in the library's collection and made them into short, animated clips. Each animation is a creative re-imagining of original works. Artists and artists' estates approved use of imagery for the exhibit knowing the animation altered photographs of the original artworks. Animations were made by library staff and contracted graphic designers.
