Imagine Free Books for Kids

Imagine if every child had books in their home. Now, imagine if every child was read to from birth, which helps young brains develop language, vocabulary and other important cognitive skills. Realize that 61 percent of low-income families have no children's books in their homes. Only half of babies and toddlers are read to regularly—not just in low-income families, but across all incomes and educational levels.

How do we change this? You make it convenient, comfortable and part of the family’s daily routine.

Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library is a free book program that promotes literacy skills for all children from birth to 5 years old. Each month a new, carefully selected book will be mailed to the child’s name directly to their home. The library and United Way of Greater Topeka have joined together to make Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library available to all children who live in Shawnee County to help prepare them for kindergarten.

“Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library has been shown to improve early childhood literacy for children in the program,” said Gena Millicoy, CEO, Topeka and Shawnee County Public Library. “Community donors underwrite the costs of the books and the postage for mailing to the child’s home. That’s 60 times a child will rush to the mailbox asking ‘Is there something for me?’”

To sign up your child (birth - 5 years) for this program visit topl.org/imagination, select the registration link and complete the registration form. Your child will start receiving books eight to 10 weeks after the registration form is received. Your child will receive a book every month until they turn 5 or you move out of Shawnee County. Books are mailed to the address on the registration form. If the child’s address changes, you must change your address on the Parent Portal linked at topl.org/imagination or call United Way 2-1-1 with the new address.

Kids create an art exhibit!

Discover, create and explore while you help Build a Better World at the Alice C. Sabatini Gallery during the 16th annual Art Exhibition for Children. Be physically and mentally active in the homes, gardens and playgrounds exhibit areas. This is not your typical art exhibit, because you bring the energy that will create and change and build this exhibit.

Everyone has a place they call home, but homes can be very different. You will discover many types of building materials and houses including stilts houses, yurts and houseboats. This hands-on exhibit encourages you to use your imagination to build a Lego® home.

Watch as our paper garden grows every week. Sign up for your gardening time and help grow the garden. You can also design your own seed packets and fill them with seeds to take home. Visit often and see the garden grow!

Climb, build and solve problems in the playground. Our playground includes Minecraft® stations as well as physical and mental challenges. See how your brain and body can work together to build a better world.

“Everyone can be an artist in this exhibit,” said Zan Popp, curator. “Just use a little imagination and start building, creating and playing.”

For eight weeks visitors will build, teardown and rebuild in the Build a Better World exhibit. Visit often to help make this world change.

During the 16th annual Art Exhibit for Children, June 1 - July 30, older and other kids will build homes with Legos®

Need help finding your next book or movie?

Your library catalog is a great resource for books and movie recommendations. At the bottom of the catalog main page you’ll find the most recent recommendations. Looking for lists related to a certain topic or genre? Use the search box at the top of any catalog page, select “list” from the dropdown search menu, type in your search word(s), enter and you will pop-up from your library staff and a whole community of readers.

Celebrate the weekend with literary legends, past and present

June 10 & 11

Celebrating the 10th anniversary of the groundbreaking Brown v. Board of Education decision, Kansas City’s own Mary Ventresca presents an overview of Black literary heritage and its impact on Kansas City. The evening will feature readings and discussion from Kansas City’s own Gwendolyn Brooks and Minnow Allbright. Ventresca will also discuss the rise of Black women writers in the 21st century and their impact on the literary world.

Brookfield: A Gwendolyn Brooks Centennial Celebration, June 10, 1 – 5 p.m.

Brown v. Board National Historic Site Experience poetry, art, and music from this community festival honoring of Topeka-born poet Gwendolyn Brooks, the first African-American to win a Pulitzer Prize. Her family moved to Chicago where her young and many poetry honors include serving as the Illinois Poet Laureate from 1978 to 1984 and her death in 2000. Brooks would have turned 100 this summer. On June 11 you’ll hear Topeka High grad Kevin Young read poetry including *Cambodia and Iraq, and exploring how her became involved in covering mass death and disaster. At her first literary event in Topeka, Farnsworth will share the powerful experience that motivated her to write her own story. Book sales and signing will follow the event.

Check out the work by Brooks, grab a copy of Summertime: Poems and read it. You can also purchase a copy of New Orleans: A Train Through Time by Kevin Young, the poetry editor of the New York Times. Young has published six books in poetry including Lilacs: Selected & Uncollected Poems 1995-2015 and Book of Mirrors (2015). This event will also include readings by other highly-acclaimed authors and student poets.

The Friends of the Library Book Sale September 14-17 | Ag Hall, Kansas Expocentre

You can easily access the library from your mobile device while you’re watching baseball practice or from your laptop while sitting on your comfy sofa. There are tons of resources and information on our digital branch at tscpl.org/downloads/ebooks. You can download more than 150 magazines through the library’s Flipster service. Grab your Kindle and find the latest bestsellers or classics as ebooks at tscpl.org/downloads/ebooks.

If you want to hear that latest hit song or watch the latest movie, you can listen and watch through Hoopla. Hoopla has a large collection of digital music and movies. You can pick up a copy of a book, a CD, or a DVD, or even choose to receive it through the mail. The digital library lets you access all these resources with your library card.

Learning computer basics is easy

I you know someone who needs help getting started on a computer, navigating the web, using email or searching for jobs online, the library’s DigitalLearn (tscpl.digitallearn.org) can help get them (or you) up to speed.

Have your friend spend a little time with DigitalLearn and they’ll see how helpful computers and the internet can be. DigitalLearn offers short (less than 25 minutes), easy-to-follow courses. The courses cover a variety of topics to teach people how to use computers and the internet to get things done and connect with friends. Use DigitalLearn at home, the library or at the Deer Creek technology training classroom.

DigitalLearn will help your friend:

• Get started using a PC or a Mac
• Navigate websites
• Set up and manage accounts and passwords
• Use email
• Avoid online scams
• Protect their privacy online
• Search for jobs online
• Use Cloud storage
• Use Facebook and Skype to connect with friends and family
• Buy a plane ticket to take that

The DigitalLearn project was created by the Public Library Association and Cox Communications, through a grant by the Institute of Museum and Library Services.
