With a shared community goal of “every child in our community will be ready for kindergarten,” in April 2017 the library and the United Way of Greater Topeka partnered on Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library, which mails a free age-appropriate book every month to enrolled children birth to age 5. All children under 5 years old in Shawnee County are eligible regardless of household income. Our goal is to create a more literate community for whom reading is an essential part of life.

Access to books is especially problematic for children living in poverty. It is estimated one child living in a middle-upper income household has an average of 13 books of their own, where in low income communities there is one book for 300 children. With the Imagination Library all children enrolled at birth will have at least 60 books of their own when they turn 5.

Imagination Library books are selected by a blue-ribbon panel with representatives from education, child development, academia and early childhood literacy expertise. The books incorporate specific themes targeting age-appropriate developmental milestones. New titles are introduced each year to avoid duplication of books older siblings may have received.

A recently released research report that summarized several different studies of the program concluded children who participate in the Imagination Library score 28 percent higher on kindergarten readiness measures than non-participants. Morgan County Schools in Georgia saw their kindergarten readiness scores increase from 46 to 90 percent after three years of the Imagination Library.

Year 1 Results

The Imagination Library has been a success in Shawnee County enrolling 60 percent more children than the Dollywood Foundation, who runs Dolly Parton’s Imagination Library, estimated would enroll by the end of the first year. Grants and contributions from individuals and businesses to support this program have enabled more children to participate and receive books mailed directly to their homes. All donations and grants received are used only for direct program expenses of purchasing and mailing books to children.
Library improvements on the way

Work is underway on Claire’s Courtyard on the southwest side of the library. This new space will include a pavilion, an outdoor courtyard and an outdoor amphitheater for programs and classes. This exciting project is being funded entirely by private donations raised by The Library Foundation and the generous gift from Dr. Glenn Swogger and the Redbud Foundation. The name Claire's Courtyard honors Swogger's late wife Claire. We expect to have courtyard construction completed by the end of 2018.

This fall you’ll also notice construction inside the library to improve customer service and checkout. To prepare for this work, Red Carpet Services and the copier, fax and scanning equipment will move temporarily into the Learning Center, beside the New Books and Movies Room.

Keeping on track with our master facilities plan, work will begin on library roof repairs later this year.

Explore Kansas nooks & crannies

Let your curiosity about new places guide you into Kansas’s nooks and crannies this fall. You don’t have to go far to see new sights or make family memories. Fall is also a great time to travel as the weather is cooler and there isn’t as much competition for vacation spots.

Marci Penner recently co-authored the Kansas Guidebook 2 for Explorers. Penner and WenDee Rowe visited every one of the 626 incorporated towns and cities in Kansas, and hundreds of other places on and off the map in search of scenery, art, cuisine, geography, history and people.

“The best thing about exploring Kansas is that for a person with an exploring spirit, there can be adventures around every corner,” said Penner. “The architecture and geography give immediate insights into a particular area, and cemeteries are also superb places to learn about the people and history. And, exploring Kansas can be done at any time, in any direction, with little money required.”

Penner said one of her favorite parts of exploring Kansas is eating at local restaurants.

“More often than not the food is made from scratch and the decor is anything but cookie cutter,” said Penner. “Plus, listening to the conversations gives you insight into the community.”

Visit the library’s Travel Neighborhood for books and maps to help you explore Kansas or just about anywhere else in the world you want to visit. Make your research and trip easy by checking out one of our many travel bags that include books and guides for specific destinations. Check out tscp1.org/travel for more travel information.

Get inspired to take your own road trip through Kansas on Sept 15 from 2-3pm in the library’s Learning Center when Penner and Rowe share dozens of photos and tales from the road.
Take your singing out of the shower

If you’ve ever thought about refining your singing skills, use your library—right? Then let’s say you want to accompany your perfectly pitched voice with a little music. You’ll need to learn how to play the guitar, mandolin, banjo, drums or even digital instruments. Once you’ve mastered your instrument, check out song writing tutorials. Finally put it all together with some audio production classes.

So how can the library help you become a musical master? Use Lynda.com, an online education company that provides video courses taught by industry experts in creative, software and business skills. Grab your library card and go to tscpl.org/lynda. This subscription-based service is free to library cardholders so once you register with your library card and PIN, you’ll be on your way to becoming a better singer.

If singing isn’t what will make you famous, be sure and look over other learning modules including photography, entrepreneurship, animation, web design, marketing, graphic design and music. Search topics by skill level, duration, subject, software, company and even instructor. You will be singing Lynda.com’s praises as your personal online teacher.

Movie Soundtracks

A couple of months ago, GR Marchant in library circulation recommended the soundtrack to Baby Driver on Facebook. Have you heard of the movie? It’s a heist film about a getaway driver who loves music. Anyway, fast-forward a few months and I was finally able to listen to the soundtrack, and oh it’s a good one! It’s got a wide spectrum of musical styles including soul, jazz, rock and pop. AllMusic calls it “an expertly curated soundtrack” and, as I am wont to do, my mind wandered to thinking about other movies with exceptional soundtracks.

There are quite a few places on the internet that offer lists of the all-time best soundtracks – RollingStone, AMC’s Film Site, Digital Trends – and they offer quite a few selections because they don’t always agree. Here are a few movies from the lists whose soundtrack I still listen to. Hoopla has 1,000 soundtracks you can download including all the ones to the right.

The Wedding Singer
I think this is Adam Sandler’s best movie and I listen to Rosie (Ellen Albertin Dow) sing Rapper’s Delight on repeat!

Purple Rain
Did you know this movie won an Academy Award for best original song score? For the longest time, When Doves Cry was my favorite song from "The Purple One."

Do the Right Thing
These days Spike Lee’s early movies, including this one, are time capsules back to the hip-hop and contemporary R&B of the late ’80s. It also has a new jack vibe that I still dig!

O Brother, Where art Thou
What I like most about the music in this movie is that it is spot-on for illustrating depression era Mississippi, plus it almost made me a fan of bluegrass!
I DIDN'T KNOW
the library did that!

How to be
Computer Savvy

Get back to learning this fall in our practical and fun computer classes. Learn how to stream new release shows or movies to your home TV or device. Learn how to draw, knit or tie your own fishing flies from the internet. Learn how to protect your accounts online while you keep up with friends and share family photos with social media.

If you're new to computers, our classes really do start at the beginning in a welcoming, laid-back atmosphere where everything you need is provided. In the Introduction to the Internet class we show how to move quickly from website to website, tips about internet addresses, and we visit all kinds of sites to show you different activities, entertainment, information and even live camera feeds.

If you are retraining for a new job or just want to brush up on your skills, our Microsoft Office Word, Excel, PowerPoint and Google Docs classes give you a good working knowledge of business programs with helpful in-class exercises. Learn all types of tips and tricks for writing a document in Word, and improve the finished document using Word's language tools. Create a document with a clean professional look or a snazzy column and photo layout in Word II: Graphics.

For entertainment we have classes on touring the digital library of ebooks, audiobooks, graphic novels, movies and television shows. In class you set up an account with your library card and learn to download music, ebooks, audiobooks, movies and graphic novels on your device.

Come to specialized classes for iPad, Android tablets, Kindles or Nooks to get more device-specific help. Computer and Gadget Help is also available every Tuesday afternoon from 3-4:30pm. Staff members provide up to 15 to 20 minutes on specific questions you have about your device; your Facebook, Twitter or Instagram page settings; help with Microsoft Office projects or any tech issues you have.

Classes are free and everything you need is provided. Registration is required due to limited space and computers. If you want to learn computer basics on your own, go to tscpl.org/digitallearn for short (6-22 minute) online classes that teach you one computer skill at a time.

We'll help you find a great read or the answer to your question.

Staff changes keep us moving forward

Meet some of the amazing people working to keep your library full of fun and learning.

“My passion is helping people find the perfect book. I look forward to connecting our community with their next great read.”
– Autumn Friedli, public services supervisor

Stephanie Hall works to spark your curiosity and feed it through thought-provoking and fun events. She knows learning can be fun as she is often helping her children find the answers to a multitude of questions such as “what is the difference between a typhoon, hurricane and a cyclone?” or “how do countries determine their system of money?” Her initial answer is almost always “I don’t know” but then she finds out. Thank goodness for the library! In her spare time Stephanie is often in the youth nonfiction area hunting down answers to these very questions.

“I look forward to the challenge of figuring out what you want to learn and then figuring out how to get you information in an engaging way.”
– Stephanie Hall, learning experiences manager

Kelli Smith supervises staff who borrow materials for you from other libraries, and those who keep materials on the shelves, at SmartLockers and at Library @ Work sites. Kelli began her library career in the circulation department 15 years ago. She then moved to various outreach services including Red Carpet, bookmobile and community services librarian prior to becoming a circulation supervisor. Kelli enjoys trivia and you’ve probably seen her helping with the library’s trivia competitions. Behind the scenes she writes some of the trivia questions for each competition.

“My staff’s success ultimately helps customers easily access library materials while experiencing great customer service.”
– Kelli Smith, circulation supervisor

Debbie Stanton supports and mentors staff in the Topeka Room, Alice C. Sabatini Gallery and the reference staff. Debbie has experience in a variety of libraries, from the Arizona Braille and Talking Book Library in Phoenix to a public library in the small Amish community of Kalona, Iowa. Most recently Debbie was director of the Washington Free Public Library and a Public Library Management trainer for the State of Iowa. Debbie is a lifelong learner with a passion for community engagement and a love of all things library.

“I’m looking forward to getting to know the community and all of the residents that use our library. I’m thrilled to work with the diverse and knowledgeable staff.”
– Debbie Stanton, public services supervisor

Fresh perspectives on graphic art

View the work of highly-skilled print artists from across the country Sept 7 - Oct 21 in the Alice C. Sabatini Gallery. The Printed Image 7 is a national competition that showcases new artworks. Printmaking is the process of making original artworks by hand-pulled print techniques including intaglio, relief, serigraph, lithograph, photogravure, collagraph, monoprint, monotype, and broadsides.

The art in the exhibit is selected by an artist who excels in printmaking techniques. The competition is held every two years and each time a different juror selects and judges the prints for the exhibit based on their expertise and perspective.

"We’re always surprised and excited about the art selected and the ideas and techniques these artists are using," said Sherry Best, collections curator.

This year our juror is Melanie Yazzie, a printmaker, painter and sculptor whose work has been exhibited in more than 100 places in the U.S. and internationally. Yazzie is currently a printmaking professor at the University of Colorado in Boulder.

“My artwork is culturally based in my heritage of being a Diné (Navajo) person,” said Yazzie. “The artworks stem from the thought and belief that what we create must have beauty and harmony from within ourselves, from above, below, in front, behind and from our core. We are taught to seek out beauty and create it with our thoughts and prayers. I feel that when I am making my art, I begin by centering myself and thinking it all out in a ‘good way,’ which is how I was taught from an early age. My work speaks about travel and transformation.”

The Friends of the Library provides cash prizes and purchases awards.

Winners will be announced at the Artists and Awards Reception, Sunday, Sept 9, 2–4pm in the gallery.

Contrary to the common advice, judging a book by the cover is really fun and something most readers do. See what library staff had to say when challenged to judge some covers. Responses below are based solely on the front cover image. For fun, we are comparing their ideas to the publisher’s descriptions.

The Sky is Yours
by Chandler Klang Smith

- Martha: Psychedelic dragons in love. This is a fantasy.
- Autumn: A psychic introduced two people who fall in love and learn they are from warring factions.
- Publisher: In a burned-out, futuristic city three young people navigate a crumbling metropolis constantly under threat from a pair of dragons that circle the skies. When violence strikes, reality star Duncan Humphrey Ripple V, the spoiled scion of the metropolis’ last dynasty; Baroness Swan Lenore Dahlberg, his tempestuous, death-obsessed betrothed; and Abby, a feral beauty he discovered tossed out with the trash; are forced to flee. As they wander toward the scalded heart of the city, they face fire, conspiracy, mayhem, unholy drugs, dragon-worshippers and the monsters lurking inside themselves.

Freshwater
by Akwaeke Emezi

- Perry: This is a weird horror story set in a creepy swamp.
- Lissa: This is about science and nature. There is foreshadowing of evil and suspense. There may be some fantastical elements.
- Publisher: Freshwater explores the surreal experience of having a fractured self. It centers around a young Nigerian woman, Ada, who develops separate selves within her as a result of being born "with one foot on the other side." Unsettling, heart-wrenching, dark, and powerful, Freshwater is a sharp evocation of a rare way of experiencing the world, one that illuminates how we all construct our identities.

Little Secrets
by Anna Snoekstra

- Betty Jean: In a small town private lives and secrets are revealed. The entire community is aghast at what they are hearing.
- Jim: A family discovers they have small fairy-like creatures living in secret places in their house.
- Publisher: An arsonist in Colmstock, Australia, burned down the town's courthouse and killed a young boy trapped inside. An aspiring journalist, Rose Blakey, is desperate for a story. After the fire, precise porcelain replicas of Colmstock's daughters turn up on doorsteps, terrifying parents and testing the limits of the town's already fractured police force. Rose may have finally found her story. But as her articles gain traction and the boundaries of her investigation blur, Colmstock is seized by a seething paranoia.

Daphne
by Will Boast

- Meredith: I would pick this up because the colors are appealing and I love the name Daphne because of Scooby Doo. This might be historical fiction.
- Todd: A boy meets girl story with political intrigue and maybe a natural disaster that requires extraterrestrial help.
- Publisher: Born with a rare condition that causes her to suffer degrees of paralysis when experiencing intense emotion, Daphne endures a virtually solitary existence before meeting a shy, charming man who compels her to choose between safe isolation and true intimacy.

Call Me Zebra
by Azareen Van der Vliet Oloomi

- Carolyn: A book about acceptance written by an artist.
- Tanya: This looks fun, but it might have a serious tone as well. The story may have some racial elements.
- Publisher: A novel following a feisty heroine's idiosyncratic quest to reclaim her past by mining the wisdom of her literary icons—even as she navigates the murkier mysteries of love. Zebra is the last in a line of anarchists, atheists and autodidacts. When war came, her family didn't fight; they took refuge in books. Now alone and in exile, Zebra leaves New York for Barcelona, retracing the journey she and her father made from Iran to the United States years ago. Books are Zebra's only companions—until she meets Ludo. Their connection is magnetic; their time together fraught.

Eventide
by Therese Bohman

- Sherry: A woman pretends to be prim, proper and perfect, but she isn't in a potentially dangerous way.
- Carolyn: This is a scandalous tale about marriage wrecking. The main character is buttoned up on the outside, but a hot mess on the inside.
- Publisher: When Myriam, a French-Moroccan lawyer, decides to return to work after having children, she and her husband look for the perfect nanny for their two young children. They never dreamed they would find Louise: a quiet, polite, devoted woman who sings to the children and her husband look for the perfect nanny for their two young children. They never dreamed they would find Louise: a quiet, polite, devoted woman who sings to the children, cleans the family’s chic apartment in Paris’s upscale tenth arrondissement, stays late without complaint, and hosts enviable kiddie parties. But as the couple and the nanny become more dependent on one another, jealousy, resentment, and suspicions mount, shattering the idyllic tableau.
Eventide
by Therese Bohman

• Joey: This is a book about repression, self-identity and personal struggle. A lost soul is looking for a lost lover who went to war. The main character is a farm girl who wants to be bohemian.

• Michael: A romantic novel oriented to women.

• Publisher: An astute novel following the life of an art professor at Stockholm University as she navigates the academic world, with its undercurrents of eroticism, competition, deceit and fear.

The Perfect Nanny
by Leila Slimani

• Sherry: A woman pretends to be prim, proper and perfect, but she isn't in a potentially dangerous way.

• Carolyn: This is a scandalous tale about marriage wrecking. The main character is buttoned up on the outside, but a hot mess on the inside.

• Publisher: When Myriam, a French-Moroccan lawyer, decides to return to work after having children, she and her husband look for the perfect nanny for their two young children. They never dreamed they would find Louise: a quiet, polite, devoted woman who sings to the children, cleans the family's chic apartment in Paris's upscale tenth arrondissement, stays late without complaint, and hosts enviable kiddie parties. But as the couple and the nanny become more dependent on one another, jealousy, resentment, and suspicions mount, shattering the idyllic tableau.

Friends of the Library

Some people think of themselves as a friend of the library because they have a library card and they like us, which is great, we like you too! However, Friends of the Library are people who have purchased a membership (starting at $20) to be part of the non-profit library affiliate the Friends of the Library. This organization has donated more than $1.6 million to the library since 1971 to help the library stay on the cutting edge of technology, services and programs that promote lifelong learning. In addition to memberships, the Friends raise money through book sales and by operating the Chandler Booktique.

Friends members also receive benefits from their membership – free admission to the Friends Night at book sales, 10 percent discount at the Chandler Booktique, access to members-only Booktique Holiday Open House, invitation to Friends Annual Meeting and three newsletters to keep them informed. To become a Friend download the form online at tscpl.org/friends or join while at the Booktique.

Visit tscpl.org/bookmobile to find the drop box location nearest you. Call the Bookmobile office at 785-580-4590 for more information.
